That he entered the service of the United States under the following named officers and served as herein stated: -- He lived in Orange County in North Carolina when he was drafted to serve a tour of nine months, he turned out under Colonel Litel [sic, Archibald Lytle ?], went up to Moon's Creek on Dan River from there he was marched southward by Cambridge into the low country of South Carolina, he was discharged after his term expired by Colonel Litel at some place near the Charleston or rather between there & Savannah. He then returned home and moved into South Carolina on the waters of Broad River he thinks into Fairfield County, he then turned out a volunteer under Colonel Sumpter [sic, Thomas Sumter] was with him at the Battle at Blackstock's, he thinks some two or three or four months -- He afterwards Enlisted under Captain Dawkins as well as he recollects during the war joined General Greene about or some time before Charleston was evacuated. State of South Carolina, Pickens District

Personally appeared before me F. N. Garvin a Justice assigned to keep the peace in and for the District of Pickens and State aforesaid, William Watkins, and made oath in due form of law and on his oath saith that by reason of old age and consequent loss of memory he cannot positively swear to the precise length of his service but according to the best of his recollection he served not less than the periods mentioned below and in the following grades. The first service he done was nine months, in Colonel Little's Regiment of Infantry for which service he received a Due discharge but has by some means lost the discharge he then volunteered under General Sumter and served three months during which time he was in the battle at Blackstock's, he then enlisted under Captain Dawkins a commander of a troop of Cavalry and was in several skirmishes but in no general engagements in Served not less than six months amounting in all to not less than 18 months, but he thinks more but from loss of memory and want of Education he cannot recollect dates; but this he does recollect, that for the greater part of the war he was not allowed to follow any Civil pursuit on account of being so often called into the service.

Sworn to before me and subscribed this 12th day of September 1833.
